Once we receive your return of a final sale item, we will process the exchange subject to stock availability. If the requested exchange item is in stock, we will email you a secure online payment request to cover the shipping costs. If it is not available, we will issue store credit for the value of the returned item(s), valid for one year.

Please note that all returned items must be in new, unworn condition. Items showing signs of use are not eligible for return, and any such packages will be sent back at the customer's expense.
