FIT THE BACKPANEL AND HARNESS

2-3. After fitting the hipbelt, tighten the shoulder harness by pulling the straps down and back. Lastly, tighten the load lifter straps.

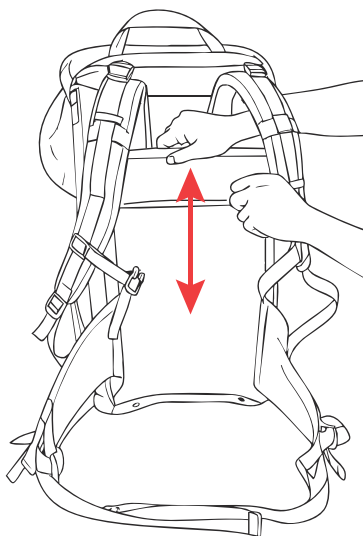

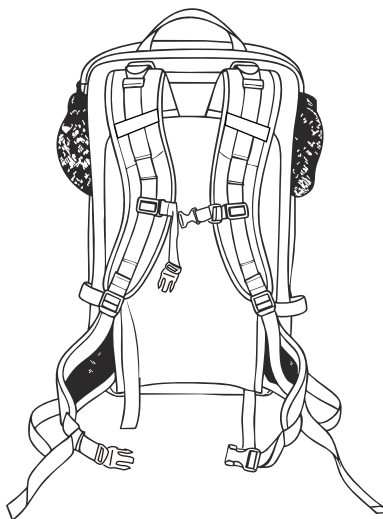

2-4. When properly fitted, the shoulder harness yoke should rest 1-2 inches/2.5-5cm below your C7 vertebra (the bump at the base of your neck).

TO ADJUST THE TORSO LENGTH, FOLLOW THESE STEPS:

2-5. Take the pack off and completely loosen the pack's load lifters and harness straps.

2-6. Slide hand between back and harness and up or down to the correct torso length.

3-1. Open the child harness by releasing both black harness buckles located below the child's center back pad.

ADJUST CHILD SEAT HEIGHT

WARNING:

Child must not be in the carrier while adjusting seat height.

To adjust the seat, follow these steps:

3-2. For proper fit, the child's chin should be level to the top of the padding at the front of the seat. Place the child in the carrier to check if adjustment is needed.

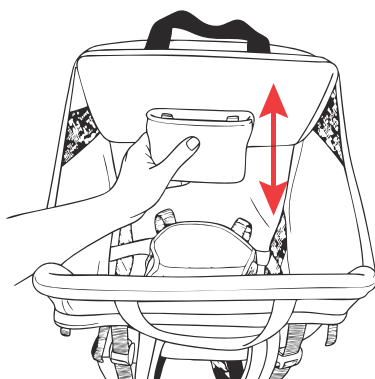

3-3. To adjust the seat, locate the velcro that secures the child's seat height. This is found below the child seat back pad.

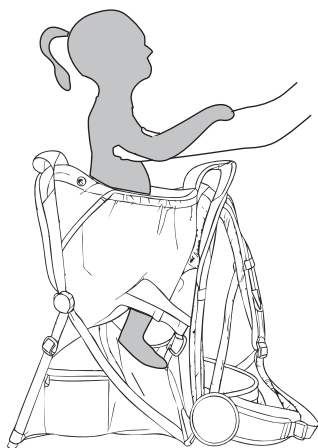

3-4. Slide your hand underneath the velcro to separate the back pad from the carrier fabric.

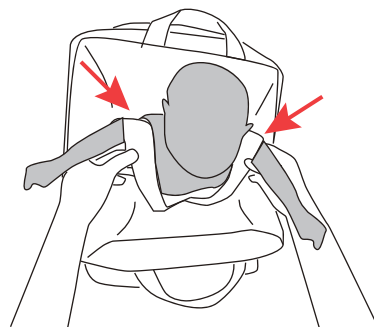

3-5. Leave your hand behind the velcro to keep it disconnecting while adjusting the seat up or down to fit the child's size.

3-7. Guide the child's arms through the harness arm loops.

3-8. Buckle the right and left red harness male buckles into the black female buckles located behind the center back pad.

4-1. Before putting on the pack with child:

- Ensure the adult torso and hipbelt are properly fitted on the adult. (Refer to Step 2)
- Ensure the child is properly fitted and secure within the child carrier. (Refer to step 3)
- Loosen one side of the harness: keeping the side you intend to put on your shoulder first tight and fitted.
- Unbuckle and loosen the adult hipbelt and adult sternum strap.

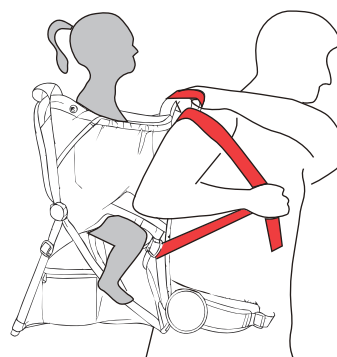

4-2. While standing, face the adult backpanel and use both handles at the front and rear of the child cockpit to lift the child carrier and place the frame onto your slightly bent knee.
