

ANNUAL REPORT ON FIGHTING AGAINST FORCED LABOUR AND CHILD LABOUR IN SUPPLY CHAINS

For the reporting period: January 1, 2025 to December 31, 2025

Canada considers it essential to contribute to fighting modern slavery and in 2023, adopted the Fighting Against Forced Labour and Child Labour in Supply Chains Act (Act). The Act imposes reporting obligations on entities involved in manufacturing goods in Canada or elsewhere or in importing goods manufactured outside Canada.

Child labour means labour or services provided or offered to be provided by persons under the age of 18 years and that:

- (a) are provided or offered to be provided in Canada under circumstances that are contrary to the laws applicable in Canada;
- (b) are provided or offered to be provided under circumstances that are mentally, physically, socially or morally dangerous to them;
- (c) interfere with their schooling by depriving them of the opportunity to attend school, obliging them to leave school prematurely or requiring them to attempt to combine school attendance with excessively long and heavy work; or
- (d) constitute the worst forms of child labour as defined in article 3 of the Worst Forms of Child Labour Convention, 1999, adopted at Geneva on June 17, 1999.

Forced labour means labour or service provided or offered to be provided by a person under circumstances that:

- (a) could reasonably be expected to cause the person to believe their safety or the safety of a person known to them would be threatened if they failed to provide or offer to provide the labour or service; or
- (b) constitute forced or compulsory labour as defined in article 2 of the Forced Labour Convention, 1930, adopted in Geneva on June 28, 1930.

This report is prepared by SAXX Underwear Co. Ltd. (SAXX) under the Act and outlines the steps SAXX has taken during its previous financial year (the Reporting Period) to prevent and reduce the risk that forced labour or child labour is used at any step of the production of goods in Canada or elsewhere by SAXX or of goods imported into Canada by SAXX.

SAXX exercises internal controls in its hiring and recruitment practices by maintaining and adhering to written policies on equal opportunity and fair hiring.

SAXX took the following due diligence steps with respect to preventing and reducing the risk of forced labour and child labour in its business and supply chains:

- Formed an Enterprise Risk Management Committee comprised of senior management team members including the Chief Financial Officer and Chief Operations Officer, Product Development, Global Operations, and Finance, to assess and review SAXX's risk profile that reports formally on a quarterly basis.
- Since 2022, utilized the HIGG Index to measure environmental and social performance. Included within the framework is a specific focus on the social impacts of forced labour or human trafficking and child labour. Additional details of the Higg Index can be found at the link below:

SAXX utilizes third-party factories and logistics providers to handle the manufacture and transportation of SAXX-branded underwear, apparel and related merchandising products into Canada.

SAXX's risk assessment determined there is some risk of the use of forced labour or child labour in SAXX's third-party factories and logistics providers. This risk is directly managed by the Product Development and Global Logistics departments of SAXX. As part of its vendor management process, key suppliers and factories are obligated to abide by SAXX's Vendor Guide and Code of Conduct, and quarterly business reviews are executed with key vendors. These reviews may include on-site visits to physically verify compliance with SAXX's vendor agreements.

The majority of SAXX's workforce are product and creative designers, and knowledge workers. SAXX is subject to mandatory compliance that protect against the use of forced labour and child labour in Canada, including provincial employment and human rights protections, workplace safety and occupational health and safety laws, and pay equity and transparency laws.

SAXX's ongoing assessment of its effectiveness includes seeking from suppliers their formal affirmation of a shared commitment to fighting against the use of forced labour and child labour in their supply chains.

Remediation Measures

SAXX has not identified any forced labour or child labour in its business activities or its suppliers. SAXX has not had to enact any measures to provide for, or cooperate in, remediation of forced labour or child labour. Nor has SAXX had to undertake any measures to remediate the loss of income to vulnerable families connected to the use of forced labour or child labour.

Training

SAXX’s action plan includes identifying the employees whose roles or responsibilities involve or may involve producing, selling, or distributing goods in Canada or elsewhere, or importing into Canada goods produced outside of Canada for or on behalf of SAXX. As part of this initiative, identified employees will be asked to affirm knowledge and awareness of the Act and its goals and objectives, SAXX’s core values as they relate to the Act, and re-affirm their commitment to preventing and protecting against the use of forced labour and child labour in SAXX’s business activities and suppliers when carrying out the performance of their duties.

Ensuring and Assessing Effectiveness

SAXX’s Enterprise Risk Management Committee is charged with ensuring continued risk assessment and risk management, including compliance with regulatory requirements. A formalized Risk Register is updated, reviewed, and presented at SAXX’s annual Audit Committee meeting.

To ensure that SAXX’s suppliers continue to meet expectations with respect to their labour practices, SAXX intends to update its Vendor Guide and Code of Conduct to require suppliers to have policies and procedures for identifying and prohibiting the use of forced labour and child labour in their activities and supply chains, and in particular, in the supply of raw materials used in the manufacturing of SAXX products.
